Behind Bitcoin, Litecoin is the second most popular and pure cryptocurrency. This success can be largely attributed to its simplicity and clear utility benefits. And since then, this figure has been many folded to date.

Its main benefit comes from its speed and cost-effectiveness for growth of the LTCIP community. Litecoin transactions are typically confirmed in just minutes, and the best thing is transaction fees are nearly negligible. This makes it an attractive alternative to Bitcoin in developing countries, where transaction fees may be the deciding factor on (BEP-20) stable cryptocurrency to support.
